Four-Year-Plan Templates

Educators and Students can browse the Template options available to build a plan here. Templates are the main building blocks for students to develop their Four-Year Plans. Every district is assigned default templates upon setup. However, templates may also be custom-made, so students may want to review them to determine which one is most applicable, as some include suggested courses, specific Graduation Requirement orders, and other relevant details.

Search for a template by typing a title in the column filter box or clicking the Column Actions and Options gear.

To view the template, click on the Row Actions and Options gear icon on the same row to the right of the template and then click “View Plan Template.” Alternatively, you can instantly create a plan by clicking “Create Plan for Student” as an educator or “Create Plan for Me” as a student.

Financial Information

Here, students can review information regarding Financial Aid. When clicked, students will notice a blue hyperlink that opens a new window with specific information about the subject they clicked on. (FAFSA, WAFSA, Washington State Financial Aid Resources, etc.)

Financial Information

Launch SurveyDon't let the cost of college stand in the way of your career goals.

The information below helps you learn about many options to pay for education. Grants and scholarships are free money for your education. Apply for many grant and scholarship opportunities. The time you invest to search and apply for free money could make a difference in the college you attend and the amount of money you may need to borrow.

It all starts with the FAFSA or the WASFA. In Washington, students complete one of two applications to be considered for student financial aid: the FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid) or the WASFA (Washington Application for State Financial Aid). The applications open October 1 each year and students should try to complete their financial aid application as soon as possible after that date. In addition to state and federal aid, many school-based and school-funded scholarships require students to submit a FAFSA or WASFA form for consideration.

The FAFSA

U.S. citizens and eligible non-citizen students will be considered for grants, loans and work-study funds upon completion of this form. Federal aid can be used at technical, two-year and four-year colleges and universities across the country. Learn more about eligibility requirements and complete the FAFSA at FAFSA.gov and studentaid.ed.gov/.

The WASFA

The state of Washington offers financial aid for people who aren't eligible for federal aid, including undocumented students. Financial aid is money that can help you pay for more education after high school. Complete the Washington Application for State Financial Aid \(WASFA\) to see if you are eligible.

Additionally, a brief Financial Aid Reflection Survey is available for students to complete. Launch the survey in the top right corner. A pop-up window will appear with various questions for the student to answer regarding the FAFSA information. Students are guided through a survey to demonstrate their knowledge. They check the box to indicate that they understand if they feel informed about their opportunities. There are fifteen questions to complete. The tracking bar at the bottom will turn green as you progress.
